EXERCISES ARE HELD BY HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

Commencement Program Given and Seven Get Diplomas

STRONG CLASS ADDRESS

Prof. C. B. Robertson of University of Pittsburg Talks Entertainingly

Impressive commencement exercises were held at the Methodist Episcopal church Monday evening when the class of seven graduates from high school received diplomas. Prof. C. B. Robertson, of the University of Pittsburg made a thoroughly progressive address to the class, and the diplomas were presented by W. D. Pollock, president of the school board. After the presentation of diplomas some surprise was occasioned by a presentation to Mr. Pollock of a beautiful picture "Sir Galahead" by the class, through their president, Henry Lowstuter. In accepting the remembrance, Mr. Pollock remarked that the best use he could make of it he thought would be to have it placed in the new high school building as a memorial to the class.

The five young women and the two young men constituting this history making class occupied seats on the rostrum, the simple white gowns of the former and the dark suits of the young men against a background of flowers and greens forming a striking picture. With the large auditorium decorated with greens and potted plants and with high school colors much dignity was lent to the occasion.

Rev. J. T. Hackett said the invocation. The high school orchestra under direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel rendered a selection, to be followed by the high school girl's chorus in the song "Carmena."

Miss Genevieve Nutt who won second honors among the seven graduates was accorded first place among the speakers on the program and delivered an oration on "The Cultivation of Personality." Briefly she recited a history of the middle ages showing the definite changes politically and religiously that had been wrought through man's personality. She said three things have principally to do with the development of a good personality, the mastery of affections, the cultivation of the mind and the training of the will. "He is strong who completely controls himself" was a thought that she presented.

A male quartet composed of Warren Kinder, John F. Bowman, Earl Nicholson and Prof. I. T. Daniel sang "In Absence."

Miss Helen Booth, the first honor graduate, in her oration spoke on "The Bluebird of Happiness." She referred to blue as the color of true friendship and the bluebird as the emblem. "Heaven and happiness is what the heart is," Miss Booth emphasized. "Happiness comes only as shared with sorrow." She said that happiness is found at home and not in weary wandering about in search of some magic spring or some magic flower. Useful service, content and wise and honorable living are prime requisites for happiness.

Preceding the address to the class by Prof. Robertson MissPauline Collier and Miss Mabel Gaut played with good effect a piano duet, "Spanish Dance," by Moszkowski. After Prof. Robertson's talk the girl's chorus sang, "Oh! That We Two Were Maying."

Physical growth, mental growth, heart growth, and soul growth are four things to which high school graduates should pay attention and to which the school authorities and patrons would do well to look after critically in the education of their children, in the opinion of Prof. Robertson. There is a greater development needed to broaden mankind according to his belief and th ough the rightful cultivation of these four the greater development will be had.

Prof. Robertson presented some new ideas in his talk. He is a firm believer in the progress of schools. Credit should be given to the boys and girls for the work they do at home, was his argument. If a girl can make a bed well or do housework perfectly she should receive credit, or if a boy can chop kindling wood, sweep the walks or start the furnace fires, he should get recognition. The farmer boy who has to hoe potatoes when he wants to go fishing, or plow when he wants to go swimming is infinitely better grounded in the first principles of education than the town or city youth who merely kills time during his vacation hours. Prof. Robertson's point was in this the lesson of stick-to-it-iveness.

Prof. Robertson referred to a high school commencement as a crowning event in the life of any community, because it represents the end of the public school life and usually the beginning of the workday existance. No industry pays dividends like the school and no industry can produce products from which greater joy can be derived than from the schools.

A plea for co-ope ation in school work on the part of the parents and school patrons was voiced by Prof. Robertson. He said that the way it usually happens the people elect their board, who elect their school faculty who teach the chidren. Then the

Tribute Paid Young Man

Funeral Services of Frank Arrison Are Marked by Beautiful Rites

Beautiful obsequies were held for Frank Arrison Monday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Arrison at 526 Washington avenue. Rev. John R. Burson, pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church preached the funeral sermon and conducted the services. In his talk he reviewed the life of the young man and paid fine tributes to his character. He told of his life work and of the church work in which he had engaged some time ago.

This morning Masonic rites were held at the home and the body was taken on the morning train to Rices Landing, from there to be taken to Carmichaels for interment in the Carmichaels cemetery. Masonic rites were held at the grave.

LARGE CROWD AT PARK FOR PICNIC

Early Morning Cars Carry School Children to Eldora---Amusements Besieged and Captured---Weather Propitious

Beautiful June weather and prospects of the best school picnic that the school children of Charleroi every enjoyed drew a big crowd to Eldora Park today. Not only the children went, either, for their parents and school patrons found themselves unable to stay away. The result is that one of the merriest crowds is at the park with everybody enpoying himself to the utmost.

Special cars carrying the children to the park were started upon the arrival of the children. Each child had a certain number of tickets presented to them before leaving Charleroi and each on made good use of them.

This afternoon a sports program is being decided. There are a number of events to be run off. Dancing will be an afternoon feature.

MEMORIAL TO BE HELD BY THE ODD FELLOWS

Charleroi Lodge No. 1030 and Iris Rebekah Lodge No. 299 of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will hold a combined memorial service on Sunday, June 8 at 2:30 p. m. in the Palace Theatre. The opening prayer will be made by Rev. J. T. Hackett and addrdesses by Rev. H. O. McDonald of Monessen and Rev. F. A. Richards and Rev. C. P. Bastian of Charleroi. Music will be furnished by two male quartets. The members of the orders will meet at their hall and go to the theatre in a body. All visiting members of the orders are invited to turn out with the orders in a body. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the memorial service.

TALK IS GIVEN AT ST. JAMES A. M. E. CHURCH

Rev. J. E. Caldwell of Nashville, Tenn., gave an inspiring lecture on league work in St. James A. M. E. church Monday evening. Mr. Caldwell is the general secretary of the league of the A. M. Two Deaths Reported Along the Monongahela Valley

ONE AT COAL CENTRE

Lad of Nine Gets Beyond Depth--Strong Current Pulls Monongahelian to Death

Two drownings occurred along the Monongahela valley Monday. Roy Moore, aged 9, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Moore of Coal Centre met death in Pike Run. Emlen J. Bailey, aged 45 of Monongahela died in the waters of the Monongahela river at Monongahela.

The Moore boy with several companions of his own age had gone in bathing. He got beyond his depth and being unable to swim went down. His companions were unable to help him. Several of them scrambled from the water and summoned aid. The body was recovered by several men who worked over the body for two hours but failed to revive him.

The funeral services will be held in the Coal Centre Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. The interment will be in Howe's cemetery.

Bailey and a man by the name of Charles Shaner were bathing in the river at Monongahela. Against the advice of Shaner, Bailey dove into the water from the head of a coal boat bottom. Owing to the high water the current was very swift and he was unable to extricate himself immediately. Borne down stream he was drawn under a coal barge and drowned. His body was not recovered and may not be until the barges are moved.

Bailey is a widower. He is survived by one daughter who is about 15 years old. He was employed at Yohe Bros. planing mill.

WAR—WHAT FOR?

One of the most scathing denunciations of war is presented is the book recently published by Prof. George R. Kirkpatrick, a university instructor of note, entitled, "War—What For?" on which topic Mr. Kirkpatrick lectures tonight in Charleroi at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfied avenue. The object of the work is to create a deep and lasting prejudice against war, and Prof. Kirkpatrick is devoting his energies in that direction in an appeal to the working people, just as the Baroness von Sutner is working along similar lines among the wealthy and the cultured.

Among the startling facts brought out in Mr. Kirkpatrick's book is that in the Russian-Japanese war regiments of men and boys were made to charge up hills swept by Gattling and machine guns, and that the dead fell in mounds four and five deep, some of the bodies having as many as 70 bullet wounds. A Gattling gun can be fired from 800 to 1,800 times a minute, and by an electrical attachment 3,000 times a minutes. A Gatthing will tear a board fence a mile away to pieces in six minutes.

In one single campaign of Napoleon's wars 150,000 boys under 20 years of age were destroyed, and a single "Dreadnought" battleship costs as much as all the books in the libraries of 464 leading colleges and universities in the United States. In the civiized wars that resulted in the 110 years following 1789 two gallons of human blood were offered up every 20 minutes during that time, [illegible] to satisfy the thirst of the God of War.

What Prof. Kirkpatrick seeks is to educate the plain people to the extent that they will refuse to not only go to war—to offer themselves up as food for powder to gratify the ambitions of [illegible]—but they will also refuse to tax themselves for the awful waste of military expenditures. When this is done the world over, there will be no war. All that the people have to do is to refuse to stand up and be killed and to stop paying the bills for useless military expenditures. In view of the precepts and teachings of Christianity, the people may well ask themselves "War—What For?"

When women are given universal suffrage they will constitute a mighty force in the interests of peace In spite of all civilizing influences man, who has been trained from the dawn of civilization to jump at the command of a military or political dictator, cannot eliminate the inherent feeling that he was born to be bossed by a higher power, something that demands from him a greater sacrifice than home interests or love of wife, children and neighbors. Woman, although universally degraded and kept in subjection, has the home instinct first, last and all the time, and when given the power of suffrage will not permit herself to be swayed as men are, at the crack of the imperial whip. With her patriotism is an everyday quality that has an application first of all in her own home.

The mother who works to shelter, feed, clothe and educate her children is a greater patriot than any of the Balkan potentates who have just sacrificed a hundred thousand husbands, fathers, and sons to death and disease in military conquest.

GOOD PLAN.

The plan of the Bank of Charleroi to start at once a saving fund for the purpose of visiting the Panama Exposition at San Francisco in 1915 should appeal to many individuals who desire to visit the Pacific coast but who never have enough money at any one time to gratify that ambition. The proposition of the Bank of Charleroi people is a simple one—start in right now to save a dollar a week with the understanding that the process must be continued until the specified time, and that the money will not be withdrawn until the Panama Exposition opens.

There are hundreds of people in this community who can avail themselves of this opportunity, who squander uselessly more than a dollar a week. A trip like a visit to the Panama Exposition may well be considered an event of a lifetime, and is well worth even a greater sacrifice than eliminating a small amount of useless expenditures weekly that the individual is usually better off for making the sacrifice. Those who make the start now will be surprised to learn how easily it can be done and when the great exposition opens they will all the more appreciate the great pleasure that is in store for them.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A young woman who is employed as a downtown business house while on her way to work this morning, came across a small boy about 9 years old weeping bitterly. He was surrounded by a group of sympathetic lads, and inquiry as to the cause of grief elicited the information that the boy wanted to go to the school picnic at Eldora Park today, but had no shoes.

"I can't go in my barefeet," sobbed the lad.

"Oh, yes, you can," said the young woman, sympathetically. "Don't you know that you can enter the boys' races and run all the better, in your bare feet?"

"Is that so?" asked the lad, brightening up.

"Yes, indeed, just you hike home now, and wash your face and feet, and go down to the park with the rest of the kids. You'll be all right. Have you any money? No? Well, here's a quarter. Now you'll go, will you?"

"You bet I will, replied the lad, bounding away in the direction of his home."

"I think there ought to be a committee to go around among the children and see how many had no clothes to wear at the picnic and help fix them up," said the young woman, in relating the incident. "I'll just bet there's lots of poor kids who could not go to the park today on that account."

"Ever see an ox shod?" asked an old timer, when some one commented on the spectacle on the twenty ox team the wild west show had here the other day. "When I was a boy and lived in one of the back woods counties of the state, almost as many oxen were used for farm work and lumbering as horses. Every blacksmith shop had an oxrack for shoing the bovines. This was a strong narrow stall, into which Mr. Ox was driven when he had to be shod. His head was confined in a pole stanchion, and by means of broad leather bands and a windlass arrangement the animal was trussed up so that he stood on his tiptoes, so to speak. The foot that was to be shod was fastened, hoof up on a block by means of a chain and the blacksmith then had the ox at his mercy and could drive the shoe without wrestling all over the floor of the shop as he sometimes did with fractious horses.

"All that the ox could do was to bellow with rage, which he usually did, as he could not stir in his rack."

WAR! WHAT FOR? ASKS KIRKPATRICK IN HIS LECTURE

"War—What For?" is the topic on which George R. Kirkpatrick will speak tonight at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue at 8 o'clock. Mr. Kirkpatrick has been an instructor in the Rand School of Social Science of New York City and lecturer for the New York City Board of Education. He is also a public lecturer with numerous engagements on lyceum lecture courses.

Under the title of his lecture tonight, "War—What For?" Mr. Kirkpatrick has written a startling book that is a scathing indictment of war. This book has made a decided furore, as it presents hideous facts heretofore suppressed and uncovers information concerning militarism of which the public has been hitherto ignorant. It presents a vivid picture of the horrors of war, and is designed to produce a deep and lasting impression in favor of universal peace.

SHOOTING AT CALIFORNIA; AND ONE ARRESTED

One man is under arrest and officers are searching for another man said to be a resident of Uniontown as a result of a shooting at Daisytown Sunday night which it is believed will terminate in the death of the victim, Sam Veninski.

The man arrested is Tony Ferrero of Uniontown who was a few days ago discharged as a member of a gang employed in road improvement work near the Crescent power house. It is alleged that Sunday evening Ferrero who had been in Uniontown returned to Daisytown. On the road he met three foreigners and soon he gave way to violent language. The first report had it that Ferrero while in a rage pulled a revolver and shot Veninski. Ferrero was captured soon after the shooting.

This story was disproved to an extent Monday evening, however, when Officer S. B. Ansil took Ferrero to the McKeesport hospital to which Veninski was removed following the shooting. After looking at Ferrero Veninski said he was not the man who had shot him but that it was a "buddy" of Ferrero who had fired the bullet. Ferrero was brought back to California and locked up pending a further investigation and officers are now searching for the man known as Joe.

MARKELL'S SHOW BOAT STOPS HERE FOR TWO SHOWS

The Markle Show boat, Golden Rod, will be at the river landing in Charleroi Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The features of the show are the Edison Talking Pictures, and "The House of Trouble," a laughable comedy, and six vaudeville acts. In the Edison talking pictures, which is one of Thomas Edison's greatest inventions, the voice and action are so natural that you can scarcely realize that you are looking at a picture. "The House of Trouble," presented by Allor, Borrington & Co., is a scream from start to finish, in which a young married man tries to get rid of his mother-in-law.

The vaudeville acts introduce Roberts & Fulton in a burlesque act, and the McDonald Bros., pantomine acrobats, contribute some entertaining and amusing features.

SOCIETY AND PERSONAL

D. C. Whitlatch and daughter Dorothy will leave this evening on a western trip. They will visit at Pueblo, Col., Salt Lake City, Utah, Lincoln, Nebr., and other points.

Mrs. Frank Flickinger of Cleveland, Ohio, was a visitor Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Flickinger of McKean avenue.

C. B. James is employed at the local P. R. R. baggage room during the absence of the regular baggage master, D. C. Whitlatch.

A number of P. R. R. agents were here Monday to attend the funeral services for Frank Arrison. Among them were R. E. Hoops of Donora; Harry Milslagle, of Courtney; G. B. Sorrick of Monongahela; J. W. Parnell of West Elizabeth, B. F. Livingstone of Duquesne and O. R. Wilson of Pittsburg.

L.E. Flint, editor of the Monongahela Times was in Charleroi this morning and went to Carmichaels with the Masonic funeral party accompanying the body of Frank Arrison.

Mrs. Oscar Carson of Charleroi has returned home from a visit with her sister, Mrs. James Roberts of Rices Landing.

COUNT TAKEN IN FINAL AT BOXING SHOW

Four exhibition bouts were staged at a boxing show at the Turner Hall Monday night, ending in a final between Jim Thompson of Charleroi and Miles Rooney of Donora. Thompson got the worst of this affair, being given a love tap to the jaw in the second round that stretched him sound asleep on the floor while the referee counted ten.

The semi-final was a six round battle between "Cockey" Malone, of Charleroi and Fritz Elsner of Donora. These lads fought to what ordinarily would be considered a draw.

"Brownie" Gilmore and a chap from Donora fighting under the name of [illegible] went four rounds. Gilmore was outweighed by the Donora lad, and affairs were called off in the fourth round. An exhibition of four rounds of boxing was gone through by the Cooper Brothers of Dunlevy.

people fold their hands trusting all will be right. Instead they have teaching to do themselves argued Prof. Robertson. All have a part to play in the education of youth.

Physical health is one great asset, and so is mental cultivation for the proper and intended enjoyment of a life. Each person is obligated to train his mind and body, but a larger responsibility is the training of the heart and soul.

In concluding his address to the class, Prof. Robertson said in part:

"Young people, I don't care what you do. I do care about the way in which you do it. Do your duties with the right spirit. Put your heart into your work that success will crown your efforts. You must be somethings more than ordinary, or you fail. This is not the commencement but the beginning. Just in proportion to what you demand will the world give unto you. I wish you Godspeed and the highest success."

Diplomas were presented to the class by W. D. Pollock, president of the school board. He remarked that as a tribute to Prof. Robertson whose theories went thoroughly in accord with his, he would say little. He pronounced the class a remarkable one because it was the first to graduate under the four year high school course regulatians and because of the high honors it had attained.

In concluding the program the high school orchestra played a number and Rev. E. G. Stanley pronounced the benediction.

NO FEAR OF A "HOLY WAR"

Fanaticism, Though of the Most Extreme Character, Is Powerless in Modern Warfare.

The possibility that the green flag of the prophet may be lifted by the sultan of Turkey, who is invested with dread dignity as the successor of Mohammed, always excites comment when the Turk is at war with the Frank. But the magic phrase, "a holy war," bears examination no better than the generalization called "the Oriental mind," writes William T. Ellis in the Century. Italy has just proved in Tripoli that fanaticism hurls itself in vain against modern machine guns, and the forces upon which the leaders of a "jehad," or holy war, can rely, are, except in the case of Turkey itself, wholly unorganized along modern military lines. Even the Arabs' immemorial maneuver of striking a swift blow and then retiring to the fastnesses of the oases is thwarted by the scouting aeroplane. Mobs cannot fight armies. In the old rush of spearsmen and swordsmen and bowmen the casualties were comparatively so few that the wounded might be carried away or left behind. Modern weapons do a wholesale business; they are to the old ways as the steam reaper to the sickle.

Another factor, unheeded by the romantic, which time has injected into any possible conflict between the followers of the prophet and the civilized powers is that of a navy. The recent experience of Turkey with Italy is sufficient commentary upon this. An armed rising of all Islam against all Christendom is utterly impossible. Even in India the unorganized, undrilled, unarmed and scattered Moslems, numerous as they are, could not hope to prevail against the British troops.

How Old Is a Relic?

How old must a relic be to possess historical importance? The discussion of the fate of the old assay office suggests the question. Mr. E. H. Hall of the Scenic and Historic Preservation society, who as a professional saver of relics may perhaps qualify as an expert, says that the assay office "is not even a hundred years old, and I think a building should be at least that old to have much historic value." Obviously, however, the strict application of this rule to determine the claims of any building to preservation would mean, in a rapidly changing and developing community, the destruction of practically everything of present moderate and future great historic interest. Conservation of potential relics is necessary if we are to have real ones. If a thing must endure its full century before it begins to be regarded as venerable ,there is very little chance in this country of its ever becoming venerable at all. The rule would send it to the dump heap at ninety without remorse, even if its character were such that, had the march of business been ten years slower, it would have come to be treasured in the relic class.—New York Tribune.

WHEN MRS. JONES GAVE UP

She Knows Now, Though She Didn't Before, That Real Antique Lover Can Never Be Cured.

Beverly Jones had a passion for antiques and having money enough to indulge it, he spent his time haunting second hand furniture ships, where he managed to pick up wonderful bargains. That is, he thought they were wonderful, but his wife did not always agree with him.

Mrs. Beverly Jones did not share her husband's craze She had it in a modified form when she first married, but as the house began to fill with all kinds of old furniture, Mrs. Jones' love for old pieces began to cool, and she set her wits to work to solve the problem of how to cure him of his fad. She stored the furniture in the attic, but still it accumulated.

Once, without consulting Mr. Jones, she called in a dealer, and sold a lot of what she considered the least valuable stuff. She calculated that her husband would not remember that he had them, much less miss them. And the event proved that she was right.

The next night he came home in high spirits.

"Hurrah, Mary," he cried, "I struck a wonderful piece of luck today. I found such a charming old sideboard, the exact duplicate of one I bought years ago. They will make a grand pair."

His wife's smile grew faint. "Yes?"

"Yes, and some beautiful chairs, almost the same pattern. I always wanted some of the sort. They will just match. It was a fine piece of good luck."

"Yes?"

"Yes. And the dearest little work table. I'm sure you'll be delighted with it. I've always meant to get something of the kind for you, but, somehow, I never could find anything I specially liked. I've bought work tables before, but nothing as well built as this piece."

"Beverly Jones," asked his wife solemnly, "Where did you buy those pieces of furniture?"

Mr. Jones looked alarmed at his wife's tone. "Why—" he hesitated. "It was at Walker & Hoyt's—I think—" he knew his wife disliked the place, from her expression—"Yes, it was at Walker & Hoyt's. What's the matter, Mary?"

"Do you know what you have been buying, at some outrageous price, Beverly Jones?" demanded his wife.

"But what's the use? The real antique lover is never cured, and of course Beverly Jones wasn't.

Bomb Explodes After 58 Years.

A citizen of this town was wont to show his friends a bomb which was thrown into the town when the British attacked it during the Crimean war, and to remark that English bombs are not much good, as this one failed to explode.

The relic was kept in the bathroom. A servant put it into the empty Russian stove of huge size. Suddenly the bomb burst the other day, wrecking the house, but causing no casualties. It had the best of the joke after fifty-eight years.

The amusement has caused much amusement here, one local wag remarking that the English bomb burst to seal the Anglo-Russian friendship.—Petropavlovsk Corr. Pall Mall Gazette.

AEROPLANE SAFE AS A SHIP

Frenchman Declared to Have Perfected Invention Which Practically Does Away With Danger.

The Louis Le Grand High school, Paris, France, where President-elect Poincaire was a pupil, recently gave a fete in his honor. A branch of the National Aerial league was inaugurated in the school at the same time, relates a cable dispatch.

Rene Quinton, the president of the league, announced that the automatic stability of the aeroplane can be regarded as having been solved by Moreau's invention, the tests of which had been checked by General Hirschauer, the head of the army aviation department. Moreau, with a passenger, had made a flight of 35 minutes without touching his levers, except for ascending and descending. The wind at the time was blowing 23 feet a second.

Moreau has worked for six years on his invention but has been greatly impeded by his modest resources. He is the father of six children and earns his living by soliciting orders for printing. His invention depends on the pendulum principle. The motor is affixed to the plane itself and the basket containing the pilot is slung below. The wings act as a swing, automatically moving the levers, which act on the planes and correct the effect of sudden gusts and changes in the wind. This secures both lateral and longitudinal stability.

General Hirschauer's attention was attracted to the invention at the last aeronautic salon and he hopes to secure it for the state.

Indexing Extraordinary.

Indexers have been responsible for many errors, but possibly the strangest example of curious indexing occurs in a law book. Turning over its index, a correspondent of the London Chronicle noted the entry: "Best, Mr. Justice, His Great Mind," and reference to the page brought this: "Mr. Justice Best said he had a great mind to commit the witness for contempt of court."

Destiny of America.

A nation is not a conglomeration of voters, to be represented by hungry politicians empowered to partition the spoils of office, but a people animated by a common impulse and seeking to work out a common destiny. The destiny of America is mutual service; labor is the corner stone of our nationality, the labor of each for all.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Insatiable Ambition.

"I hope our ambitious friend is satisfied," said the philosophic observer. "He has prospered so that he can do as he pleases." "Yes. But that doesn't content him. While he is doing as he pleases he wants everybody to quit work and applaud him for doing it so nicely."—Washington Star.

Law of the Harvest.

The law of the harvest is to reap more than you sow. Sow an act and you reap a habit; sow a habit and you reap a habit; sow a habit and you reap a character; sow a character and you reap destiny.—George D Board man.

The Ocean Is Dusty.

When the decks of ships are rubbed and cleaned each morning great quantities of dust are invariably found. In the modern steamship this could be accounted for by the tons of carbon which are poured forth daily by the funnels, but the curious thing is that the deck of a sailing ship shows a greater quantity of this material than that of the steamship. In an Atlantic trip, occupying ninety-seven days by sailing ship, twenty-four barrels of powder were swept from the deck. The captain took extended observations of the amounts collected daily, but found nothing which assisted him to clear the mystery.

ELECTRICITY TO AGE CHEESE

Hollander Announces Complete Success of Most Important Experiments He Had Undertaken.

Another use has been found for electricity, that of aging cheese. An industrial electrician of Rotterdam, Holland, through a long series of experiments found that he could take an absolutely fresh cheese and in one day actually "age" it two years. In other words, by means of electricity he would make this fresh cheese have all the consistency, taste and appearance of a fine cheese that had been stored away and carefully aged for two years.

He takes a fresh cheese and subjects it to an alternating current. At the end of twenty-four hours of constant alternating electrical currents through this cheese it possesses all the properties of a fine two-year-old cheese.

This has naturally aroused great interest in Holland, where cheese-making is one of the big industries. It is said the electrician claims he can do many other things with cheese by means of electricity, including an apparatus that will enable the manufacturer to so graduate and direct electrical action of this nature as to give cheese any taste desired and any consistency that may be needed to supply the wants of a fastidious market

Incendiary Bullet.

Tests have been made in Germany with a special projectile which is intended to repel dirigibles and which is designed not only to pierce a gas envelope but also to set fire to the gas. This projectile, fired from the old German rifle known as "model 71," which has a caliber of 11 millimeters, is provided with little wings that open in flight under the influence of a spring, compressed while the projectile is still in the rifle barrel, but, expanded as soon as the muzzle is passed. An ordinary bullet leaves such a small hole in an envelope that the gas escapes through it but slowly. The wings on the improvel bullet tear a hole of appreciable size in the fabric. What is more, they retard the bullet sufficiently to cause a friction device to ignite fulminate contained in the bullet. It is said that experiments conducted at Neumannswald gave encouraging results.—Scientific American.

Lifeboats on Guide Rails.

Commander Eaton, R. N., has invented an interesting device for the lowering of boats at sea with the minimum of danger to passengers, which is now under the consideration of the board of trade, according to a London dispatch. Commander Eaton has devoted considerable attention to the subject and has a practical knowledge of boat work at sea.

His system is the provision of lifts down the side of the ship, so designed that the boat rests on a platform which slides down guide rails fixed to the ship's sides. The boats themselves swing on gimbals, so that no matter at what angle the ship may swing the boats remain upright and there is no danger of their being overturned while descending or of being dashed against the sides of the vessel.

Love of Books.

Book love, my friends, is your pass to the greatest, the purest and the most perfect pleasure that God has prepared for his creatures. It lasts when all other pleasure fade. It will support you when all other recreations are gone. It will last you until your death. It will make your hours pleasant to you as long as you live.—Anthony Trollope.

Prolific Penguins.

A penguin oil industry is to be established at Macquarie Island, about half way between Tasmania and the Antarctic continent. This island, 25 miles long and five wide, is estimated to contain probably 80,000,000 penguins, so that the stock seems almost limitless.

BEGAN GREAT CAREERS EARLY

English and American Actresses Who Showed Possession of Genius When They Were Children.

It has been said that seldom do infant stage prodigies fulfill the expectations of the future. As a matter of fact, however, many of our leading actresses began their stage careers when they were children.

Ellen Terry, for instance, made her first appearance in "A Winter's Tale" when she was eight; her sister Kate when she was seven; her niece Beatrice when sue was ten, and another niece, Minnie, when she was three; while Marion Terry played Ophelia when she was seventeen. Winifred Emery (Mrs. Cyril Maude) made her first appearance on the stage in "The Green Bushes" when she was eight, and gained her first success when she was seventeen.

Referring to American actresses, one might mention Maud Adams, perhaps one of the most successful of Mr. Frohman's "stars," who first appeared on the stage when she was a baby of nine months old, and was a favorite at the age of sixteen. Julia Marlowe made her first appearance in a juvenile production of "H. M. S. Pinafore" when she was twelve; while Maud Fealy first played when she was three.

End of a Noted Folly.

The monocle has long since been out of fashion in England, and is soon to disappear from Paris, which has been its last stronghold. It was invented by a Dutch dandy, and its evil effects upon the eye were at once noted by oculists. The monocle first appeared at the congress of Vienna in 1814, when it was worn by its inventor. One folly, at least, has had only about a century of life.

Couldn't See His Third.

During the cotton-picking season in Texas a colored brother who had gone into the country to work returned very much disgusted. "Don't yo' git no offahs ter pick no cotton?" asked a friend. "Sech ez dey was. White man done offered me one-third o' wat Ah could pick. Ah done tuk a look at de field an' saw dat when it wah all picked it wouldn't amount ter one-third. So Ah done lit out fer home!"

Even the Chanticleer.

Clarence was leaving early that night. The cuckoo had just sounded the eleventh hour. In the back yard the family rooster uttered a maudlin crow. "Clarence," called her father from an upper window, "will it trouble you to step around back of the house and throttle that rooster? He heard the door close and he thinks it's daylight."

Lemon Hint.

Instead of throwing away hard, dry lemons, put them in a pan of hot water and set it where it will maintain about the same degree of heat without boiling for two hours. When taken out and dried the lemons will be as soft and juicy and rich in flavor as though they had never grown hard. —McCall's Magazine.

Voice of the Charmed One.

Fair Suffragette—"And now, if any one who has heard my speech wishes to ask a question, I shall be happy to answer." Masculine Voice (from rear of hall)—"If you haven't any other company, may I see you home this evening?"—Judge.

Better Days Coming.

"This is the tenth time you have been up before me," said the Cleveland judge severely. "Is it possible, your honor?" replied the prisoner. "Well! well! Ain't it wonderful how long some judges hold office under the old system? But I promise it won't happen again—not after we get the recall to workin'."

Sleeping Porch

Vudors are the best that money can buy. They are made of tough wood and indestructible cord, which interlocks in such way that the slats will not work loose. The stain is weather proof. You can see out but the person outside can not see in. They shut out the sun but permit the air to pass through freely.

Vudors make a cool, airy, private room out of your porch.

Vudors cost but little more than the cheaper kind, and will wear for years.

QUEER FACTS ABOUT MONEY

Average Lifetime of Various Denominations of Paper Currency Differs Considerably.

The average lifetime of the different denominations of United States paper currency differs considerably; that of the $1 silver certificate, for instance, being a trifle over one year; the $5 silver certificate, 1.9 years; the $10 gold certifictae 1.68 years; $20 gold certificate, 1.9 years, etc. The number of pieces of United States paper currency in circulation is gradually increasing and numbered 327,329,159 on June 30, 1912. There were 273,426,336 pieces of United States currency redeemed during the same period, which exceeded by 8,218,415 the number of pieces issued the preceding year. The increasing growth in redemptions is due primarily to the growth in business activities, the publicity given to uncleanliness and alleged insanitation of soiled notes, and the consequent demand for cleaner money; the growing practice of payment of wages in factories, shops, etc., weekly and bi-weekly, as compared with monthly; and growing popularity of paper money in sections where silver was formerly in the greatest demand, etc.—Leslie's Weekly.

UNIQUE EXAMPLE OF LOYALTY

Popular Daughter of Prominent Chinese Official Is Married to Large Red Vase.

Not long ago considerable commotion was caused in the Chinese city of Hankow when the attractive and popular daughter of a prominent Chinese official was married with great pomp and ceremony to a large red vase which was supposed to represent a deceased bridegroom who had died a few years before his marriage. Whereupon his grief-stricken bride-elect declared that she would never marry any one else, but would devote herself as a widow for the rest of her life to the family of her husband. In order to do this, however, it was necessary that she should legally belong to that family and so the strange ceremony with the vase was gone through with to enable her to become a member of the family. Since then it has been suggested that an arch should be built in the city in order to commemorate the devotion of the young girl to the husband she never had.

China Market for Hats.

Men who have wondered what becomes of the large stocks of hats, caps and clothing that remain unsold at the close of each season in this country will be interested to learn that a considerable portion of such stock is disposed of in China, where the men are adopting the dress of their western brothers. The rising generation of Chinese is particularly keen for headgear worn in America, but the styles seen there are always those that were in vogue in this country the year before.

Much of the men's apparel that fails to find a market in this country finds its way to the far east. In a walk through the streets of any Chinese city one sees derbies, fedoras and caps that bear an American label. Most of the caps are of British make because many of the tourists come from London, and in selecting a cap the native has no guide except the headgear he sees on foreigners.

Coal and the X-Ray.

It is now believed that the mystery of the formation and constitution of coal, which has long puzzled students, will be solved by means of the X-ray.

According to a French scientific journal, there are two or three kinds of ash in coals: First, the foreign matter carried by the wind or the rain into the forests that gave rise to the coal. Next there is the mineral matter that forms part of living plants. Finally, there is generally more or less mineral matter due to the formation of new compounds by the decomposition of the first two kinds of ash. The examination of coal with the X-rays will probably lead to a possible distinction between these three forms of ash, and will thus contribute to throw light on the formation of veins.

Bottle-Fed Fruit.

Bottle feeding is the latest wrinkle in the growing of the enormous winter hothouse fruit, and it has increased the fruit's size and sweetness 80 or 90 per cent. Peaches and pears are like pumpkins; grapes and strawberries like apples.

When a peach or a pear is young and green and hard, the gardener passes through it a needle and thread of coarse cotton, leaving both thread ends sticking out. He does this till eight or ten ends are obtained. These ends he puts into bottles of sugar and water syrup, and the syrup, flowing along the cotton, is absorbed by the fruit, sucked up by it—sucked up as babes suck up milk—the fruit, in a word, is bottle-fed.

Arguing It Out.

"The horse is superior to the automobile at every point."

"Nonsense. You can't name a point."

"Well, for one thing, you can eat horse meat. Thousands do."

"I've tried it. I'd just as soon have a piece of rubber tire with gasoline sauce."

Secret No Longer.

Marryat—Yes, that's what I mean.—Stray Stories.

Thanks to the Cartoonist.

Party emblems that figure on ballots represent the more serious purposes and type the traditions of various political followings; but the emblems that the cartoonists and humorists have established are the more popular, because they represent that cheerful mood in which a majority of persons attack politics without abandoning the earnest aim that underlies its manifestations.—Judge.

Science and Death.

"Even in the face of the inexorable law of death," says the Lancet, "science still has a consoling message. It can hold out the hope that one day the ravages of disease may so far be eliminated that death will be nothing more than a quiet and painless phenomenon. It will cease to be feared, and come even to be desired as a fitting close to a weary day."

Watch Built in a Pearl.

A tiny watch, which has been made inside a pearl as large as a big pea, has just been constructed by Gallopin & Co. of Geneva, fifteen months being spent on the work. The empty pearl weighed forty-five grains and in diameter is less than an inch. This pearl watch can be worn on a ring or as a pendant and cost $6,000.

Still at It.

"I wonder what has become of my husband. Three days ago I sent him to match a sample at a department store. He hasn't been seen since."

"I saw him yesterday. He was at the third counter of the fourteenth aisle, and was just starting for the fourteenth counter of the third aisle."—Washington Herald.

Caution.

"Shall I empty your wastebasket?" asked the janitor. "It is brimful of correspondence." "No," answered the man who is combining politics with high finance. "Just hand me my bonds and stock certificates and I'll stuff 'em in some pigeonhole so that you can lock the waste-basket in the safe."

"Costermonger."

Ribbed costard apples, a cooking kind, are now to be seen in the shops. The costard is referred to in the household accounts of Edward I, in whose reign the street seller of the apple was called a costardmonger—hence "costermonger" and "coster."—London Standard.

Apology.

Home Happiness.

Probably nineteen-twentieths of the happiness you will ever have, you will get at home. The independence that comes to a man when his work is over, and the feeling that he has run out of the storm into the quiet harbor of home, where he can rest in peace and with his family, is something real.

Poetry at the Bottom of the Mug.

"He will work," said a Tottenham (Eng.) constable of a defendant, "if he knows there is a pint of beer at the end of the job." This must have been very much the sort of thing Tennyson had in mind when he wrote "Follow the Gleam."

Cistern water can be thoroughly sterilized by the addition of one-tenth of a grain of hypochloride of lime to the gallon. This does not injure the water for laundry and bathing purposes.

Precious Attributes.

"Why are diamonds so highly valued?" "I suppose," replied Mr. Groucher, "it's because they are made of carbon, which is the equivalent of coal, and at the same time look like ice."

Dog Earned His License.

The little fox terrier of L. N. Hanley won for his master a license tag for the killing of 100 rats. The prize was offered, when the canine had killed 80 in two weeks, by a member of the council.—Carlisle Advocate.

Pity.

A girl who has a steady beau feels the same kind of pity for the girl who sits alone night after night that the boy who can dive has for the one who is afraid to wade in "above his knees."

GIRLS WHO ARE PALE, NERVOUS

May Find Help in Mrs. Elston's Letter About Her Daughter.

Burlington, Iowa.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured my daughter of weakness. She was troubled almost a year with it and complained of backache, so that I thought she would be an invalid. She was entirely run down, pale, nervous and without appetite. I was very much discouraged but heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound through friends, and now I praise it because it has cured my daughter."—Mrs. F. M. Elston, R. D. No. 3, Burlington, Iowa.

Case of Another Girl.

Scanlon, Minn.—"I used to be bothered with nervous spells, and would cry if anyone was cross to me. I got awful weak spells especially in the morning, and my appetite was poor. I also had a tender place in my right side which pained when I did any hard work. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my symptoms all changed, and I am certainly feeling fine. I recommend it to every suffering woman or girl. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Miss Ella Olson, 171 5th St., Virginia, Minn.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's For One Thing Only and Charleroi People Appreciate This.

Nothing can be good for everything.

Doing one thing well brings success.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for one thing only.

For weak or disordered kidneys.

Here is Charleroi evidence to prove their worth.

Mrs. William McBride, 508 Lincoln avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "Our first exeprience with Doan's Kidney Pills took place while we were living in Beaver Falls. One of our family was, at that time, suffering from dull pains in the small of the back and other symptoms of kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills were of great benefit and there were no return attacks of the trouble for a long time. About a month ago Doan's Kidney Pills were procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store and there were as beneficial as before."

EXERCISES ARE HELD BY HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

Commencement Program Given and Seven Get Diplomas

STRONG CLASS ADDRESS

Prof. C. B. Robertson of University of Pittsburg Talks Entertainingly

Impressive commencement exercises were held at the Methodist Episcopal church Monday evening when the class of seven graduates from high school received diplomas. Prof. C. B. Robertson, of the University of Pittsburg made a thoroughly progressive address to the class, and the diplomas were presented by W. D. Pollock, president of the school board. After the presentation of diplomas some surprise was occasioned by a presentation to Mr. Pollock of a beautiful picture "Sir Galahead" by the class, through their president, Henry Lowstuter. In accepting the remembrance, Mr. Pollock remarked that the best use he could make of it he thought would be to have it placed in the new high school building as a memorial to the class.

The five young women and the two young men constituting this history making class occupied seats on the rostrum, the simple white gowns of the former and the dark suits of the young men against a background of flowers and greens forming a striking picture. With the large auditorium decorated with greens and potted plants and with high school colors much dignity was lent to the occasion

Rev. J. T. Hackett said the invocation. The high school orchestra under direction of Prof. I. T. Daniel rendered a selection, to be followed by the high school girl's chorus in the song "Carmena"

Miss Genevieve Nutt who won second honors among the seven graduates was accorded first place among the speakers on the program and delivered an oration on "The Cultivation of Personality." Briefly she recited a history of the middle ages showing the definite changes politically and religiously that had been wrought through man's personality. She said three things have principally to do with the development of a good personality, the mastery of affections, the cultivation of the mind and the training of the will. "He is strong who completely controls himself" was a thought that she presented.

A male quartet composed of Warren Kinder, John F Bowman, Earl Nicholson and Prof I T. Daniel sang "In Absence."

Miss Helen Booth, the first honor graduate, in her oration spoke on "The Bluebird of Happiness." She referred to blue as the color of true friendship and the bluebird as the emblem. "Heaven and happiness is what the heart is," Miss Booth emphasized. "Happiness comes only as shared with sorrow." She said that happiness is found at home and not in weary wandering about in search of some magic spring or some magic flower. Useful service, content and wise and honorable living are prime requisites for happiness.

Preceding the address to the class by Prof. Robertson MissPauline Collier and Miss Mabel Gaut played with good effect a piano duet, "Spanish Dance," by Moszkowski. After Prof. Robertson's talk the girl's chorus sang, "Oh! That We Two Were Maying."

Physical growth, mental growth, heart growth and soul growth are four things to which high school graduates should pay attention and to which the school authorities and patrons would do well to look after critically in the education of their children, in the opinion of Prof Robertson. There is a greater development needed to broaden mankind according to his belief and through the rightful cultivation of these four the greater development will be had.

Prof. Robertson presented some new ideas in his talk. He is a firm believer in the progress of schools. Credit should be given to the boys and girls for the work they do at home, was his argument. If a girl can make a bed well or do housework perfectly she should receive credit, or if a boy can chop kindling wood, sweep the walks or start the furnace fires, he should get recognition. The farmer boy who has to hoe potatoes when he wants to go fishing, or plow when he wants to go swimming is infinitely better grounded in the first principles of education than the town or city youth who merely kills time during his vacation hours. Prof. Robertson's point was in this the lesson of stick-to-it-iveness.

Prof. Robertson referred to a high school commencement as a crowning event in the life of any community, because it represents the end of the public school life and usually the beginning of the workday existance. No industry pays dividends like the school and no industry can produce products from which greater joy can be derived than from the schools.

A plea for co-operation in school work on the part of the parents and school patrons was voiced by Prof Robertson. He said that the way it usually happens the people elect their board, who elect their school faculty who teach the chidren. Then the

Funeral Services of Frank Arrison Are Marked by Beautiful Rites

Beautiful obsequies were held for Frank Arrison Monday evening at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Arrison at 526 Washington avenue. Rev. John R. Burson, pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church preached the funeral sermon and conducted the services. In his talk he reviewed the life of the young man and paid fine tributes to his character. He told of his life work and of the church work in which he had engaged some time ago.

This morning Masonic rites were held at the home and the body was taken on the morning train to Rices Landing, from there to be taken to Carmichaels for interment in the Carmichaels cemetery. Masonic rites were held at the grave.

LARGE CROWD AT PARK FOR PICNIC

Early Morning Cars Carry School Children to Eldora---Amusements Besieged and Captured---Weather Propitious

Beautiful June weather and prospects of the best school picnic that the school children of Charleroi every enjoyed drew a big crowd to Eldora Park today Not only the children went, either, for their parents and school patrons found themselves unable to stay away. The result is that one of the merriest crowds is at the park with everybody enpoying himself to the utmost.

Special cars carrying the children to the park were started upon the arrival of the children. Each child had a certain number of tickets presented to them before leaving Charleroi and each on made good use of them.

This afternoon a sports program is being decided. There are a number of events to be run off. Dancing will be an afternoon feature.

BOY DROWNS IN CREEK; MAN GOES UNDER BARGE

Two Deaths Reported Along the Monongahela Valley

ONE AT COAL CENTRE

Two drownings occurred along the Monongahela valley Monday. Roy Moore, aged 9, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Moore of Coal Centre met death in Pike Run. Emlen J. Bailey, aged 45 of Monongahela died in the waters of the Monongahela river at Monongahela.

The Moore boy with several companions of his own age had gone in bathing. He got beyond his depth and being unable to swim went down. His companions were unable to help him. Several of them scrambled from the water and summoned aid. The body was recovered by several men who worked over the body for two hours but failed to revive him.

The funeral services will be held in the Coal Centre Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. The interment will be in Howe's cemetery.

Bailey and a man by the name of Charles Shaner were bathing in the river at Monongahela Against the advice of Shaner, Bailey dove into the water from the head of a coal boat bottom. Owing to the high water the current was very swift and he was unable to extricate himself immediately. Borne down stream he was drawn under a coal barge and drowned. His body was not recovered and may not be until the barges are moved.

Bailey is a widower. He is survived by one daughter who is about 15 years old. He was employed at Yohe Bros. planing mill.

Arrested as Holdup Man

Serious Accusation Made When One of Pair is Apprehended at Fayette City

A colored man claimed to be from this part of the Monongahela valley is under arrest and is being held at Uniontown as being one of two holdup men who have been operating in the vicinity of Fayette City. He was taken to the county jail of Fayette county Monday after having been arrested at Fayette City. He refused to divulge his name to anyone except the district attorney. The colored man was identified by a tailor who is employed in Rosenburg's store at Fayette City. The tailor was a holdup victim. There were two together when the one man was arrested, and one got away.

WAR—WHAT FOR?

One of the most scathing denunciations of war is presented is the book recently published by Prof George R Kirkpatrick, a university instructor of note, entitled, "War—What For?" on which topic Mr. Kirkpatrick lectures tonight in Charleroi at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfied avenue. The object of the work is to create a deep and lasting prejudice against war, and Prof. Kirkpatrick is devoting his energies in that direction in an appeal to the working people, just as the Baroness von Sutner is working along similar lines among the wealthy and the cultured.

Among the startling facts brought out in Mr. Kirkpatrick's book is that in the Russian-Japanese war regiments of men and boys were made to charge up hills swept by Gattling and machine guns, and that the dead fell in mounds four and five deep, some of the bodies having as many as 70 bullet wounds. A Gattling gun can be fired from 800 to 1,800 times a minute, and by an electrical attachment 3,000 times a minutes. A Gatthing will tear a board fence a mile away to pieces in six minutes.

In one single campaign of Napoleon's wars 150,000 boys under 20 years of age were destroyed, and a single "Dreadnought" battleship costs as much as all the books in the libraries of 464 leading colleges and universities in the United States. In the civilized wars that resulted in the 110 years following 1789 two gallons of human blood were offered up every 20 minutes during that time, night and day, as a coverage to satisfy the thirst of the God of War.

What Prof. Kirkpatrick seeks is to educate the plain people to the extent that they will refuse to not only go to war—to offer themselves up as food for powder to gratify the ambitions of [illegible]ists—but they will also refuse to tax themselves for the awful waste of military expenditures. When this is done the world over, there will be no war. All that the people have to do is to refuse to stand up and be killed and to stop paying the bills for useless military expenditures. In view of the precepts and teachings of Christianity, the people may well ask themselves "War—What For?"

When women a e given universal suffrage they will constitute a mighty force in the interests of peace In spite of all civilizing influences man, who has been trained from the dawn of civilization to jump at the command of a military or political dictator, cannot eliminate the inherent feeling that he was born to be bossed by a higher power, something that demands from him a greater sacrifice than home interests or love of wife, children and neighbors. Woman, although universally degraded and kept in subjection, has the home instinct first, last and all the time, and when given the power of suffrage will not permit herself to be swayed as men are, at the crack of the imperial whip. With her patriotism is an everyday quality that has an application first of all in her own home.

The mother who works to shelter, feed, clothe and educate her children is a greater patriot than any of the Balkan potentates who have just sacrificed a hundred thousand husbands, fathers, and sons to death and disease in military conquest.

GOOD PLAN

The plan of the Bank of Charleroi to start at once a saving fund for the purpose of visiting the Panama Exposition at San Francisco in 1915 should appeal to many individuals who desire to visit the Pacific coast but who never have enough money at any one time to gratify that ambition The proposition of the Bank of Charleroi, people is a simple one—start in right now to save a dollar a week with the understanding that the process must be continued until the specified time, and that the money will not be withdrawn until the Panama Exposition opens

There are hundreds of people in this community who can avail themselves of this opportunity, who squander uselessly more than a dollar a week A trip like a visit to the Panama Exposition may well be considered an event of a lifetime, and is well worth even a greater sacrifice than eliminating a small amount of useless expenditures weekly that the individual is usually better off for making the sacrifice. Those who make the start now will be surprised to learn how easily it can be done and when the great exposition opens they will all the more appreciate the great pleasure that is in store for them

A young woman who is employed as a downtown business house while on her way to work this morning, came across a small boy about 9 years old weeping bitterly. He was surrounded by a group of sympathetic lads, and inquiry as to the cause of grief elicited the information that the boy wanted to go to the school picnic at Eldora Park today, but had no shoes

"I can't go in my bare feet," sobbed the lad

"Oh, yes, you can," said the young woman, sympathetically. "Don't you know that you can enter the boys' races and run all the better, in your bare feet?"

"Is that so?" asked the lad, brightening up.

"Yes, indeed, just you hike home now, and wash your face and feet, and go down to the park with the rest of the kids. You'll be all right. [illegible] he e's a quarter Now you'll go, will you?"

"You bet I will, replied the lad, bounding away in the direction of his home"

"I think there ought to be a committee to go around among the children and see how many had no clothes to wear at the picnic and help fix them up," said the young woman, in relating the incident. "I'll just bet there's lots of poor kids who could not go to the park today on that account."

"Ever see an ox shod?" asked an old timer, when some one commented on the spectacle on the twenty ox team the wild west show had here the other day. "When I was a boy and lived in one of the back woods counties of the state, almost as many oxen were used for farm work and lumbering as horses Every blacksmith shop had an [illegible] for shoeing the bovines. This was a strong narrow stall, into which Mr Ox was driven when he had to be shod His head was confined in a pole stanchion, and by means of broad leather bands and a windlass arrangement the animal was hoisted up so that he stood on his tiptoes, so to speak. The foot that was to be shod was fastened, hoof up on a block by means of a chair and the blacksmith then had the ox at his mercy and could drive the shoe without wrestling all over the floor of the shop as he sometimes did with fractious horses

All that the ox could do was to bellow with rage, which he usually did, as he could not stir in the rack

"War—What For?" is the topic on which George R. Kirkpatrick will speak tonight at the corner of Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue at 8 o'clock. Mr. Kirkpatrick has been an instructor in the Rand School of Social Science of New York City and lecturer for the New York City Board of Education. He is also a public lecturer with numerous engagements on lyceum lecture courses.

Under the title of his lecture tonight, "War—What For?" Mr. Kirkpatrick has written a startling book that is a scathing indictment of war. This book has made a decided furore, as it presents hideous facts heretofore suppressed and uncovers information concerning militarism of which the public has been hitherto ignorant It presents a vivid picture of the horrors of war, and is designed to produce a deep and lasting impression in favor of universal peace.

SHOOTING AT CALIFORNIA; AND ONE ARRESTED

One man is under arrest and officers are searching for another man said to be a resident of Uniontown as a result of a shooting at Daisytown Sunday night which it is believed will terminate in the death of the victim, Sam Veninski.

The man arrested is Tony Ferrero of Uniontown who was a few days ago discharged as a member of a gang employed in road improvement work near the Crescent power house. It is alleged that Sunday evening Ferrero who had been in Uniontown returned to Daisytown On the road he met three foreigners and soon he gave way to violent language. The first report had it that Ferrero while in a rage pulled a revolver and shot Veninski Ferrero was captured soon after the shooting.

This story was disproved to an extent Monday evening, however, when Officer S P Arst took Ferrero to the McKeesport hospital to which Veninski was removed following the shooting. After looking at Ferrero he said he was not the man who had shot him but that it was a friend of Ferrero's that had fired the bullet. Ferrero was brought back to California and locked up pending a further investigation and officers are now searching for the man known as Joe.

MARKELL'S SHOW BOAT STOPS HERE FOR TWO SHOWS

The Markle Show boat, Golden Rod, will be at the river landing in Charleroi Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The features of the show are the Edison Talking Pictures, and "The House of Trouble," a laughable comedy, and six vaudeville acts. In the Edison talking pictures, which is one of Thomas Edison's greatest inventions, the voice and action are so natural that you can scarcely realize that you are looking at a picture. "The House of Trouble," presented by Allor, Bortington & Co., is a scream from start to finish, in which a young married man tries to get rid of his mother-in-law.

The vaudeville acts introduce Roberts & Fulton in a burlesque act, and the McDonald Bros., pantomine acrobats, contribute some entertaining and amusing features.

Mrs. Frank Flickinger of Cleveland, Ohio, was a visitor Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Flickinger on McKean avenue.

John A. Flickinger of Los Angeles, Cal., and Lee Frederick of Albany, N. Y., were over Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Flickinger.

C. B James is employed at the local P. R. R. baggage room during the absence of the regular baggage master, D. C. Whitlatch.

A number of P. R. R. agents were here Monday to attend the funeral services for Frank Arrison. Among them were R. E. Hoops of Donora; Harry Milslagle, of Courtney; G. B. Sorrick of Monongahela; [illegible] of West Elizabeth; F. Livingstone of Duquesne and O. R. Wilson of Pittsburg

L. E. Flint, editor of the Monongahela Times was in Charleroi this morning and went to Carmichael's with the Masonic funeral party accompanying the body of Frank Arrison.

Mrs. Oscar Carson of Charleroi has returned home from a visit with her sister, Mrs James Roberts of Rices Landing.

COUNT TAKEN IN FINAL AT BOXING SHOW

Four exhibition bouts were staged at a boxing show at the Turner Hall Monday night, ending in a final between Jim Thompson of Charleroi and Miles Rooney of Donora Thompson got the worst of this affair, being given a love tap to the jaw in the second round that stretched him sound asleep on the floor while the referee counted ten.

The semi-final was a six round battle between "Cockey" Malone, of Charleroi and Fritz Elsner of Donora These lads fought to what ordinarily would be considered a draw.

Bert Gilmore and a chap from Donora fighting under the name [illegible] went four rounds. Gilmore was outweighed by the Donora lad, and affairs were called off in the fourth round. An exhibition of four rounds of boxing was gone through by the Cooper Brothers of Dunlevy people fold their hands trusting all will be right. Instead they have teaching to do themselves argued Prof. Robertson. All have a part to play in the education of youth.

Physical health is one great asset, and so is mental cultivation for the proper and intended enjoyment of a life Each person is obligated to train his mind and body, but a larger responsibility is the training of the heart and soul.

In concluding his address to the class, Prof. Robertson said in part:

"Young people, I don't care what you do. I do care about the way in which you do it. Do your duties with the right spirit. Put your heart into your work that success will crown your efforts. You must be somethings more than ordinary, or you fail. This is not the commencement but the beginning. Just in proportion to what you demand will the world give unto you. I wish you Godspeed and the highest success"

Diplomas were presented to the class by W. D. Pollock, president of the school board. He remarked that as a tribute to Prof. Robertson whose theories went thoroughly in accord with his, he would say little. He pronounced the class a remarkable one because it was the first to graduate under the four year high school course regulations and because of the high honors it had attained.

In concluding the program the high school orchestra played a number and Rev. E. G. Stanley pronounced the benediction.

NO FEAR OF A "HOLY WAR"

Fanaticism, Though of the Most Extreme Character, Is Powerless in Modern Warfare.

The possibility that the green flag of the prophet may be lifted by the sultan of Turkey, who is invested with dread dignity as the successor of Mohammed, always excites comment when the Turk is at war with the Frank. But the magic phrase, "a holy war," bears examination no better than the generalization called "the Oriental mind," writes William T. Ellis in the Century. Italy has just proved in Tripoli that fanaticism hurls itself in vain against modern machine guns, and the forces upon which the leaders of a "jehad," or holy war, can rely, are, except in the case of Turkey itself, wholly unorganized along modern military lines. Even the Arabs' immemorial maneuver of striking a swift blow and then retiring to the fastnesses of the oases is thwarted by the scouting aeroplane. Mobs cannot fight armies. In the old rush of spearsmen and swordsmen and bowmen the casualties were comparatively so few that the wounded might be carried away or left behind. Modern weapons do a wholesale business; they are to the old ways as the steam reaper to the sickle.

Another factor, unheeded by the romantic, which time has injected into any possible conflict between the followers of the prophet and the civilized powers is that of a navy. The recent experience of Turkey with Italy is sufficient commentary upon this. An armed rising of all Islam against all Christendom is utterly impossible. Even in India the unorganized, undrilled, unarmed and scattered Moslems, numerous as they are, could not hope to prevail against the British troops.

How Old Is a Relic?

How old must a relic be to possess historical importance? The discussion of the fate of the old assay-office suggests the question. Mr. E. H. Hall of the Scenic and Historic Preservation society, who as a professional saver of relics may perhaps qualify as an expert, says that the assay office "is not even a hundred years old, and I think a building should be at least that old to have much historic value." Obviously, however, the strict application of this rule to determine the claims of any building to preservation would mean, in a rapidly changing and developing community, the destruction of practically everything of present moderate and future great historic interest. Conservation of potential relics is necessary if we are to have real ones. If a thing must endure its full century before it begins to be regarded as venerable, there is very little chance in this country of its ever becoming venerable at all. The rule would send it to the dump heap at ninety without remorse, even if its character were such that, had the march of business been ten years slower, it would have come to be treasured in the relic class.—New York Tribune.

WHEN MRS. JONES GAVE UP

She Knows Now, Though She Didn't Before, That Real Antique Lover Can Never Be Cured.

Beverly Jones had a passion for antiques and having money enough to indulge it, he spent his time haunting second hand furniture ships, where he managed to pick up wonderful bargains. That is, he thought they were wonderful, but his wife did not always agree with him.

Mrs. Beverly Jones did not share her husband's craze She had it in a modified form when she first married, but as the house began to fill with all kinds of old furniture, Mrs. Jones' love for old pieces began to cool, and she set her wits to work to solve the problem of how to cure him of his fad. She stored the furniture in the attic, but still it accumulated.

Once, without consulting Mr. Jones, she called in a dealer, and sold a lot of what she considered the least valuable stuff. She calculated that her husband would not remember that he had them, much less miss them. And the event proved that she was right.

The next night he came home in high spirits.

"Hurrah, Mary," he cried, "I struck a wonderful piece of luck today. I found such a charming old sideboard, the exact duplicate of one I bought years ago. They will make a grand pair."

His wife's smile grew faint. "Yes?"

"Yes, and some beautiful chairs, almost the same pattern. I always wanted some of the sort. They will just match. It was a fine piece of good luck."

"Yes?"

"Yes. And the dearest little work table. I'm sure you'll be delighted with it. I've always meant to get something of the kind for you, but, somehow, I never could find anything I specially liked. I've bought work tables before, but nothing as well built as this piece."

"Beverly Jones," asked his wife solemnly, "Where did you buy those pieces of furniture?"

Mr. Jones looked alarmed at his wife's tone. "Why—" he hesitated. "It was at Walker & Hoyt's—I think—" he knew his wife disliked the place, from her expression—"Yes, it was at Walker & Hoyt's. What's the matter, Mary?"

"Do you know what you have been buying, at some outrageous price, Beverly Jones?" demanded his wife.

"But what's the use? The real antique lover is never cured, and of course Beverly Jones wasn't.

Bomb Exploded After 58 Years.

A citizen of this town was wont to show his friends a bomb which was thrown into the town when the British attacked it during the Crimean war, and to remark that English bombs are not much good, as this one failed to explode.

The relic was kept in the bathroom. A servant put it into the empty Russian stove of huge size. Suddenly the bomb burst the other day, wrecking the house, but causing no casualties. It had the best of the joke after fifty-eight years.

The amusement has caused much amusement here, one local wag remarking that the English bomb burst to seal the Anglo-Russian friendship.—Petropavlovsk Corr. Pall Mall Gazette.

AEROPLANE SAFE AS A SHIP

Frenchman Declared to Have Perfected Invention Which Practically Does Away With Danger.

The Louis Le Grand High school, Paris, France, where President-elect Poincaire was a pupil, recently gave a fete in his honor. A branch of the National Aerial league was inaugurated in the school at the same time, relates a cable dispatch.

Rene Quinton, the president of the league, announced that the automatic stability of the aeroplane can be regarded as having been solved by Moreau's invention, the tests of which had been checked by General Hirschauer, the head of the army aviation department. Moreau, with a passenger, had made a flight of 35 minutes without touching his levers, except for ascending and descending. The wind at the time was blowing 23 feet a second.

Moreau has worked for six years on his invention but has been greatly impeded by his modest resources. He is the father of six children and earns his living by soliciting orders for printing. His invention depends on the pendulum principle. The motor is affixed to the plane itself and the basket containing the pilot is slung below. The wings act as a swing, automatically moving the levers, which act on the planes and correct the effect of sudden gusts and changes in the wind. This secures both lateral and longitudinal stability.

General Hirschauer's attention was attracted to the invention at the last aeronautic salon and he hopes to secure it for the state.

Indexing Extraordinary.

Indexers have been responsible for many errors, but possibly the strangest example of curious indexing occurs in a law book. Turning over its index, a correspondent of the London Chronicle noted the entry: "Best, Mr. Justice, His Great Mind," and reference to the page brought this: "Mr. Justice Best said he had a great mind to commit the witness for contempt of court."

Destiny of America.

A nation is not a conglomeration of voters, to be represented by hungry politicians empowered to partition the spoils of office, but a people animated by a common impulse and seeking to work out a common destiny. The destiny of America is mutual service; labor is the corner stone of our nationality, the labor of each for all.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Insatiable Ambition.

"I hope our ambitious friend is satisfied," said the philosophic observer. "He has prospered so that he can do as he pleases." "Yes. But that doesn't content him. While he is doing as he pleases he wants everybody to quit work and applaud him for doing it so nicely."—Washington Star.

Law of the Harvest.

The law of the harvest is to reap more than you sow. Sow an act and you reap a habit; sow a habit and you reap a habit; sow a habit and you reap a character; sow a character and you reap destiny.—George D Board man.

The Ocean Is Dusty.

When the decks of ships are rubbed and cleaned each morning great quantities of dust are invariably found. In the modern steamship this could be accounted for by the tons of carbon which are poured forth daily by the funnels, but the curious thing is that the deck of a sailing ship shows a greater quantity of this material than that of the steamship. In an Atlantic trip, occupying ninety-seven days by sailing ship, twenty-four barrels of powder were swept from the deck. The captain took extended observations of the amounts collected daily, but found nothing which assisted him to clear the mystery.

ELECTRICITY TO AGE CHEESE

Hollander Announces Complete Success of Most Important Experiments He Had Undertaken.

Another use has been found for electricity, that of aging cheese. An industrial electrician of Rotterdam, Holland, through a long series of experiments found that he could take an absolutely fresh cheese and in one day actually "age" it two years. In other words, by means of electricity he would make this fresh cheese have all the consistency, taste and appearance of a fine cheese that had been stored away and carefully aged for two years.

He takes a fresh cheese and subjects it to an alternating current. At the end of twenty-four hours of constant alternating electrical currents through this cheese it possesses all the properties of a fine two-year-old cheese.

This has naturally aroused great interest in Holland, where cheese-making is one of the big industries. It is said the electrician claims he can do many other things with cheese by means of electricity, including an apparatus that will enable the manufacturer to so graduate and direct electrical action of this nature as to give cheese any taste desired and any consistency that may be needed to supply the wants of a fastidious market

Incendiary Bullet.

Tests have been made in Germany with a special projectile which is intended to repel dirigibles and which is designed not only to pierce a gas envelope but also to set fire to the gas. This projectile, fired from the old German rifle known as "model 71," which has a caliber of 11 millimeters, is provided with little wings that open in flight under the influence of a spring, compressed while the projectile is still in the rifle barrel, but expanded as soon as the muzzle is passed. An ordinary bullet leaves such a small hole in an envelope that the gas escapes through it but slowly. The wings on the improvel bullet tear a hole of appreciable size in the fabric. What is more, they retard the bullet sufficiently to cause a friction device to igulte fulminate contained in the bullet. It is said that experiments conducted at Neumannswald gave encouraging results.—Scientific American.

Lifeboats on Guide Rails.

Commander Eaton, R. N., has invented an interesting device for the lowering of boats at sea with the minimum of danger to passengers, which is now under the consideration of the board of trade, according to a London dispatch. Commander Eaton has devoted considerable attention to the subject and has a practical knowledge of boat work at sea.

His system is the provision of lifts down the side of the ship, so designed that ... boat rests on a platform which slides down guide rails fixed to the ship's sides. The boats themselves swing on gimbals, so that no matter at what angle the ship may swing the boats remain upright and there is no danger of their being overturned while descending or of being dashed against the sides of the vessel.

Love of Books.

Book love, my friends, is your pass to the greatest, the purest and the most perfect pleasure that God has prepared for his creatures. It lasts when all other pleasure fade. It will support you when all other recreations are gone. It will last you until your death. It will make your hours pleasant to you as long as you live.—Anthony Trollope.

Prolific Penguins.

A penguin oil industry is to be established at Macquarie Island, about half way between Tasmania and the Antarctic continent. This island, 25 miles long and five wide, is estimated to contain probably 80,000,000 penguins, so that the stock seems almost limitless.

BEGAN GREAT CAREERS EARLY

English and American Actresses Who Showed Possession of Genius When They Were Children.

It has been said that seldom do infant stage prodigies fulfill the expectations of the future. As a matter of fact, however, many of our leading actresses began their stage careers when they were children.

Ellen Terry, for instance, made her first appearance in "A Winter's Tale" when she was eight; her sister Kate when she was seven; her niece Beatrice when she was ten, and another niece, Minnie, when she was three; while Marion Terry played Ophelia when she was seventeen. Winifred Emery (Mrs. Cyril Maude) made her first appearance on the stage in "The Green Bushes" when she was eight, and gained her first success when she was seventeen.

Referring to American actresses, one might mention Maud Adams, perhaps one of the most successful of Mr. Frohman's "stars," who first appeared on the stage when she was a baby of nine months old, and was a favorite at the age of sixteen. Julia Marlowe made her first appearance in a juvenile production of "H. M. S. Pinafore" when she was twelve; while Maud Fealy first played when she was three.

End of a Noted Folly.

The monocle has long since been out of fashion in England, and is soon to disappear from Paris, which has been its last stronghold. It was invented by a Dutch dandy, and its evil effects upon the eye were at once noted by oculists. The monocle first appeared at the congress of Vienna in 1814, when it was worn by its inventor. One folly, at least, has had only about a century of life.

Couldn't See His Third.

During the cotton-picking season in Texas a colored brother who had gone into the country to work returned very much disgusted. "Don't yo' git no offahs ter pick no cotton?" asked a friend. "Sech ez dey was. White man done offered me one-third o' wat Ah could pick. Ah done tuk a look at de field an' saw dat when it wah all picked it wouldn't amount ter one-third. So Ah done lit out fer home!"

Even the Chanticleer.

Clarence was leaving early that night. The cuckoo had just sounded the eleventh hour. In the back yard the family rooster uttered a maudlin crow. "Clarence," called her father from an upper window, "will it trouble you to step around back of the house and throttle that rooster? He heard the door close and he thinks it's daylight."

Lemon Hint.

Instead of throwing away hard, dry lemons, put them in a pan of hot water and set it where it will maintain about the same degree of heat without boiling for two hours. When taken out and dried the lemons will be as soft and juicy and rich in flavor as though they had never grown hard. —McCall's Magazine.

Voice of the Charmed One.

Fair Suffragette—"And now, if any one who has heard my speech wishes to ask a question, I shall be happy to answer." Masculine Voice (from rear of hall)—"If you haven't any other company, may I see you home this evening?"—Judge.

Better Days Coming.

"This is the tenth time you have been up before me," said the Cleveland judge severely. "Is it possible, your honor?" replied the prisoner. "Well! well! Ain't it wonderful how long some judges hold office under the old system? But I promise it won't happen again—not after we get the recall to workin'."

QUEER FACTS ABOUT MONEY

Average Lifetime of Various Denominations of Paper Currency Differs Considerably.

The average lifetime of the different denominations of United States paper currency differs considerably; that of the $1 silver certificate, for instance, being a trifle over one year; the $5 silver certificate, 1.9 years; the $10 gold certificate 1.68 years; $20 gold certificate, 1.9 years, etc. The number of pieces of United States paper currency in circulation is gradually increasing and numbered 327,329,159 on June 30, 1912. There were 273,426,236 pieces of United States currency redeemed during the same period, which exceeded by 6,218,415 the number of pieces issued the preceding year. The increasing growth in redemptions is due primarily to the growth in business activities, the publicity given to uncleanliness and alleged insanitation of soiled notes, and the consequent demand for cleaner money; the growing practice of payment of wages in factories, shops, etc., weekly and bi-weekly, as compared with monthly and moving annual quality of paper money in sections where silver was formerly in the greatest demand, etc.—Leslie's Weekly.

UNIQUE EXAMPLE OF LOYALTY

Not long ago considerable commotion was caused in the Chinese city of Hankow when the attractive and popular daughter of a prominent Chinese official was married with great pomp and ceremony to a large red vase which was supposed to represent a deceased bridegroom who had died a few years before his marriage. Whereupon his grief-stricken bride-elect declared that she would never marry any one else, but would devote herself as a widow for the rest of her life to the family of her husband. In order to do this, however, it was necessary that she should legally belong to that family and so the strange ceremony with the vase was gone through with to enable her to become a member of the family. Since then it has been suggested that an arch should be built in the city in order to commemorate the devotion of the young girl to the husband she never had.

China Market for Hats.

Men who have wondered what becomes of the large stocks of hats, caps and clothing that remain unsold at the close of each season in this country will be interested to learn that a considerable portion of such stock is disposed of in China, where the men are adopting the dress of their western brothers. The rising generation of Chinese is particularly keen for headgear worn in America, but the styles seen there are always those that were in vogue in this country the year before.

Much of the men's apparel that fails to find a market in this country finds its way to the far east. In a walk through the streets of any Chinese city one sees derbies, fedoras and caps that bear an American label. Most of the caps are of British make because many of the tourists come from London, and in selecting a cap the native has no guide except the headgear he sees on foreigners.

Coal and the X-Ray.

It is now believed that the mystery of the formation and constitution of coal, which has long puzzled students, will be solved by means of the X-ray.

According to a French scientific journal, there are two or three kinds of ash in coals: First, the foreign matter carried by the wind or the rain into the forests that gave rise to the coal. Next there is the mineral matter that forms part of living plants. Finally, there is generally more or less mineral matter due to the formation of new compounds by the decomposition of the first two kinds of ash. The examination of coal with the X-rays will probably lead to a possible distinction between these three forms of ash, and will thus contribute to throw light on the formation of veins.

Bottle-Fed Fruit.

Bottle feeding is the latest wrinkle in the growing of the enormous winter hothouse fruit, and it has increased the fruit's size and sweetness 80 or 90 per cent. Peaches and pears are like pumpkins; grapes and strawberries like apples.

When a peach or a pear is young and green and hard, the gardener passes through it a needle and thread of coarse cotton, leaving both thread ends sticking out. He does this till eight or ten ends are obtained. These ends he puts into bottles of sugar and water syrup, and the syrup, flowing along the cotton, is absorbed by the fruit, sucked up by it—sucked up as babes suck up milk—the fruit, in a word, is bottle-fed.

Arguing It Out.

"The horse is superior to the automobile at every point."

"Nonsense. You can't name a point."

"Well, for one thing, you can eat horse meat. Thousands do."

"I've tried it. I'd just as soon have a piece of rubber tire with gasoline sauce."

Secret No Longer.

Marryat—So that great inventor is dead and his wonderful secret is lost—

Newitt—Not at all. He told it to his wife just before he died.

Marryat—Yes, that's what I mean—Stray Stories.

Thanks to the Cartoonist.

Party emblems that figure on ballots represent the more serious purposes and type the traditions of various political followings; but the emblems that the cartoonists and humorists have established are the more popular, because they represent that cheerful mood in which a majority of persons attack politics without abandoning the earnest aim that underlies its manifestations.—Judge.

Science and Death.

"Even in the face of the inexorable law of death," says the Lancet, "science still has a consoling message. It can hold out the hope that one day the ravages of disease may so far be eliminated that death will be nothing more than a quiet and painless phenomenon. It will cease to be feared, and come even to be desired as a fitting close to a weary day."

Watch Built in a Pearl.

A tiny watch, which has been made inside a pearl as large as a big pea, has just been constructed by Gallopin & Co. of Geneva, fifteen months being spent on the work. The empty pearl weighed forty-five grains and in diameter is less than an inch. This pearl watch can be worn on a ring or as a pendant and cost $6,000.

Still at It.

"I wonder what has become of my husband. Three days ago I sent him to match a sample at a department store. He hasn't been seen since."

"I saw him yesterday. He was at the third counter of the fourteenth aisle, and was just starting for the fourteenth counter of the third aisle."—Washington Herald.

Caution.

"Shall I empty your wastebasket?" asked the janitor. "It is brimful of correspondence." "No," answered the man who is combining politics with high finance. "Just hand me my bonds and stock certificates and I'll stuff 'em in same pigeonhole so that you can lock the waste-basket in the safe."

"Costermonger."

Ribbed costard apples, a cooking kind, are now to be seen in the shops. The costard is referred to in the household accounts of Edward I, in whose reign the street seller of the apple was called a costardmonger—hence "costermonger" and "coster."—London Standard.

Apology.

Conjurer—"Now, sir, you admit that the card you have just taken out of the handkerchief is the queen of clubs, yet the card you chose and securely tied there—namely, the ace of spades—I now produce from this hat." Timid Volunteer—"So sorry—my mistake."—Punch.

Home Happiness.

Probably nineteen-twentieths of the happiness you will ever have, you will get at home. The independence that comes to a man when his work is over, and the feeling that he has run out of the storm into the quiet harbor of home, where he can rest in peace and with his family, is something real.

Poetry at the Bottom of the Mug.

"He will work," said a Tottenham (Eng.) constable of a defendant, "if he knows there is a pint of beer at the end of the job." This must have been very much the sort of thing Tennyson had in mind when he wrote "Follow the Gleam."

To Sterilize Cistern Water.

Cistern water can be thoroughly sterilized by the addition of one-tenth of a grain of hypochloride of lime to the gallon. This does not injure the water for laundry and bathing purposes.

Precious Attributes.

"Why are diamonds so highly valued?" "I suppose," replied Mr. Groucher, "it's because they are made of carbon, which is the equivalent of coal, and at the same time look like ice."

Dog Earned His License.

The little fox terrier of L. N. Hanley won for his master a license tag for the killing of 100 rats. The prize was offered, when the canine had killed 80 in two weeks, by a member of the council.—Carlisle Advocate.

Pity.

A girl who has a steady beau feels the same kind of pity for the girl who sits alone night after night that the boy who can dive has for the one who is afraid to wade in "above his knees."

As a Precaution.

Get a dozen tiny bells, and every time a bottle of poison is brought into the house tie a bell to the neck. Even in the dark the bell will tinkle its warning.

One More Item.

Not that we cannot think of other ways of frittering away money, but some day we hope to be rich enough to afford a "going away coat" for our dog.—Houston Post.

Cheap Dish.

Hunter's stew can be composed of any ingredients which can be obtained conveniently.—London Globe.

Too Good to Lose.

Jack—"Now that your engagement is broken, are you going to make Blanche send back your letters?" Harry—"You bet I am. I worked hard thinking out those letters; they're worth using again."

Scientific Fact Established.

A number of rabbits upon whom coffee was tried to determine the effect of the caffeine it contained died, proving beyond a doubt that coffee never was intended as food for rabbits.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Scotch.

GIRLS WHO ARE PALE, NERVOUS

May Find Help in Mrs. Elston's Letter About Her Daughter.

Burlington, Iowa.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured my daughter of weakness. She was troubled almost a year with it and complained of backache, so that I thought she would be an invalid. She was entirely run down, pale, nervous and without appetite. I was very much discouraged but heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound through friends, and now I praise it because it has cured my daughter."—Mrs. F. M. ELSTON, R. D. No. 2, Burlington, Iowa.

Case of Another Girl.

Scanlon, Minn.—"I used to be bothered with nervous spells, and would cry if anyone was cross to me. I got awful weak spells especially in the morning, and my appetite was poor. I also had a tender place in my right side which pained when I did any hard work. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and my symptoms all changed, and I am certainly feeling fine. I recommend it to every suffering woman or girl. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Miss ELLA OLSON, 171 5th St., Virginia, Minn.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.

Girls who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's For One Thing Only and Charleroi People Appreciate This.

Nothing can be good for everything.

Doing one thing well brings success.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for one thing only.

For weak or disordered kidneys.

Here is Charleroi evidence to prove their worth.

Mrs. William McBride, 508 Lincoln avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "Our first exeprience with Doan's Kidney Pills took place while we were living in Beaver Falls. One of our family was, at that time, suffering from dull pains in the small of the back and other symptoms of kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills were of great benefit and there were no return attacks of the trouble for a long time. About a month ago Doan's Kidney Pills were procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store and there were as beneficial as before."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
